Justices say new opinion allows fixing multiple fees

By DAN BARBER

Two Hancock County justice court judges said Tuesday they are convinced a second opinion dated June 4 from the state attorney general dealing with multiple charges for justices absolves them from charges of illegally fixing fees.

Justices Horatio Frierson and Joe Dobson said the opinion written by Attorney General A. F. Sumner and directed to District Two Justice A. J. Foretich of Harrison County supports their assertion they are entitled to docket multiple charges on a single citation separately. The practice allows justices to charge a $6 fee for each separate offense listed on a citation.

The justices were challenged on this same point last month by newly elected beat five justice Bill Frisbie, an attorney who saw the practice as a means for some justices to illegally line their pockets.

After being in office less than four months, Frisbie sought and received an opinion from the attorney general's office regarding the multiple charges. The opinion dated April 22 was interpreted by Frisbie and Hancock County Board of Supervisors' attorney Sam Favre then as disallowing justices the separate fees in traffic citations involving multiple charges.

On the strength of Favre's recommendation, Hancock supervisors withheld payment to all justices in the May docket for anything above the single $6 fee except in cases involving narcotics arrests.

In a full page ad labeled "The J.P. ripoff continues" which appeared in the Sea Coast Echo last March 11, Frisbie published figures for all justices which showed Beat One Justice Lee Klein earning $23,101 during 1975 and Beat Two Justice Joe Dobson earning $29,758 during 1975 compared to $1,500 or less for each of the county's three other justices.

During the first three months of 1976, records showed beat four collected $4,494 or over 400 percent more than all that was collected during 1975 ($1,027). Former Beat Two Justice Joe Dobson had sought and won election as beat four justice.

In contrast, Frisbie showed a significant reduction in fees for beat two which averaged only $400 per month for January and February instead of $2,500 per month shown for 1975.

Records as compiled by Frisbie showed that Dobson and Klein together earned $13,326 for the first three months of 1976 as opposed to only $2,946 for all three other justices combined.

Frisbie said Wednesday he does not feel the new attorney general's opinion significantly alters what was held to be correct in the earlier opinion.

In the second opinion, assistant attorney general R. Hugo Newcomb refers to the first opinion as "correct." However, Newcomb continues, circumstances could arise whereby subsequent to the issuance of a traffic citation, the arresting officer could appear before the court and execute two or more affidavits each covering a separate offense. In which case Newcomb says the charges could be entered on the court docket as separate cases and would be entitled to a fee from the county, as provided by law.

The new ruling implies multiple charges on a single ticket must be documented by separate affidavits if justices docket the cases separately - a practice that all justices have not followed in the past.

In the past, citation listing the multiple charges where applicable has been given the offender and affidavits have not been filed in routine traffic cases.

"It's not going to be as easy as it once was to ripoff the system," Frisbie said. "Auditors will now be looking for these affidavits."

What action will be taken by Hancock supervisors on the matter of previous claim dockets withheld will likely be covered at the board's next regularly scheduled meeting June 28.

Board warned of potential loss of Hancock school accreditation

By JAKE JACOB

Hancock North Central School faces a potential loss of accreditation for the 1976-77 school year due to an overcrowding of classrooms, Hancock North Central principal warned school board members Monday.

O'Hara told board members the school had already surpassed its enrollment of 1,203 last Spring by more than 150 students and more students were expected.

O'Hara asked the financially troubled school board for an additional five or six teachers to handle the increase.

"We have a total of 798 students registered as of last Friday and more entering the school today," O'Hara said.

"Our biggest load is in the ninth grade with 208 already enrolled," he said.

O'Hara allowed the hiked student count called for the provision of an additional 22 class periods, a load factor requiring the additional teachers.

The school's elementary grades are also experiencing increased registrations, he revealed, with their average so far exceeding last year's count by 50 students.

"When school closed this spring Hancock North Central had 1,203 students in all grades. Our present enrollment is at approximately 1,400 and still going up," O'Hara said.

In addition to the teacher shortage, O'Hara, in response to questioning from board president Monvel Cuevas, said he was utilizing every available space within the school to accommodate the students.

The principal's prime concern was in the inadequacy of restrooms, a factor he said was causing student discomfort and presenting disciplinary problems. "We have one boys' and one girls' restroom in the high school, and the same in the junior high and elementary schools."

"Each of these units is capable of providing for about four students at a time," O'Hara said.

"With this many students at the school, it is impossible for them to complete usage of these facilities in the time provided, resulting in a constant movement of students from class during instructional periods," O'Hara told board members.

While able to marginally cope with this situation, the school faced severe problems in the event of an epidemic like stomach flu, said O'Hara.

O'Hara also cited the lack of water coolers as another concern stating he had two water fountains for 800 students.

"The kids are going everywhere looking for water," he said, adding that high school students invaded the elementary school's water fountains whenever opportunity existed, a factor causing further disruption.

School board members agreed to alleviate the water fountain situation by the provision of additional units, but thought the restroom situation could await the unearthing of additional funds.

Concern was also expressed by Superintendent Terrell Randolph over maintenance costs overruns experienced by the school for the previous budget period.

Cited among areas of concentration was the telephone and maintenance expense.

O'Hara sought and was provided by his board, authorization to drastically slash telephone outlets having "dial out" capability, limiting these to receiver sets, with dial call privileges being restricted to the principal's secretaries and counselors. "Others wishing to make outside calls could do so but only through the secretary," the principal explained.

His second economy measure dealt with electrical savings to be realized by a stringent new set of regulations concerning lights.

"When people leave their classrooms and the school, all lights shall be extinguished."

"Where lights are not needed throughout the day they can be turned off and remain out until such times they are again needed for instructional purposes," the principal said.

La. youth dies Tuesday following boating accident

A 13-year-old Metairie, La. boy, injured in a Hancock County boating accident Saturday on the Jourdan River, died Tuesday at Memorial Hospital in Gulfport where he was undergoing treatment for severe head injuries.

Lawrence Hart, 1605 Emily St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Emile J. Hart, was reportedly standing in a boat which was traveling at a high rate of speed when the boat went under a pier. According to witnesses, the youth's head hit the pier.

He remained in the intensive care unit at Memorial Hospital since he was transferred there from Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at Riemann Funeral Home in Gulfport.

National grant given Beauvoir to install modern air conditioning

Visitors to historic Beauvoir, last home of Jefferson Davis, will soon be able to tour the National Historical Landmark in air conditioned comfort.

A matching funds grant has been received from the National Endowment for the Arts for the installation of air conditioning in the Davis' mansion, according to Trent Lott (R-Miss.).

The work which is scheduled to start immediately will be supervised by the Mississippi Department of Archives and History and is estimated to cost $22,850.

G.P. Cruthirds Electric Company of Biloxi will provide and install the air conditioning equipment while the electrical work will be performed by Hurst Electrical Company of Biloxi. Architects for the work are John O. Collins of Biloxi and W.R. Pitcairn of Bay St. Louis.

Lott said the project will provide protection from dust and salt air for the priceless furniture, paintings and other artifacts of the mansion.

Body of drowning victim recovered Tuesday in Bay

The body of a 22-year-old New Orleans man, who drowned Sunday in the Bay of St. Louis near Gulfside Assembly, was found Tuesday floating approximately 150 feet off the beach at Sears Avenue in Waveland.

Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn said Francisco Verrett disappeared Sunday about 6 p.m. while reportedly swimming in an area marked with warning posters.

Authorities from the Mississippi Water Safety Patrol and the Hancock County Civil Defense looked for the body until 1 a.m. Monday when the search was halted due to rough seas. It was resumed later that morning and concluded at 5 p.m.

The body was discovered by Waveland resident Buddy Haverty, about 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet conducted the inquest at Imperial Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis. Members of the jury were Robert Tartavouille, Terry Tartavouille, Earl Ladner, Billy Carbolette, Charles Carter, and Melvin Payne with Dorn serving as bailiff.

BAY-WAVELAND TEENAGE ACTION GROUP

The patients of the Kiln Crippled Children's Center are participating in a summer learn to swim program under the direction of registered physical therapist, Lorain Gilbert.

Staged at the private pool of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Baumgarten of Diamondhead, the program is also getting a boost from volunteers of Project Do, the Bay-Waveland teenage action group.

With handicapped children from as far away as Ocean Springs and Piquette participating, the program is split into several distinct sections, each geared to increase the handicapped child's confidence and sense of ability.

"First we teach breath control followed by the initial introduction to the water," Mrs. Gilbert said.

"Following these two vital things, we teach floating and finally swimming," the therapist explained.

Project Do teens are volunteering at least two hours a week to assist with the program. Involved include: Ed Flynn, Lee Tilton, Edgar Santa Cruz, Paul Robinson, Lisa Stevens, Robin Roberts, Sharon Ladner, Elizabeth Santa Cruz, Karen Lacoste, and Diana Lacoste.

Peace Corps couple from Mississippi completes tour

CUENCA, Ecuador — Allen Brown of Corinth, Miss., not designed for just any laughs at himself. "I know it sounds unbelievable but I always wanted to join the Peace Corps for altruistic reasons — this idea of 'saving the world.' My view about that has been altered about 180 degrees. I had 'jungle thoughts' when we came down here. You can see how naive we were."

"But we've loved it. We've grown so much," Patti Brown of Durant, Miss. adds. "I can't think of anything better for a young couple to do."

This month, the Browns, both 25, will conclude their two-year assignments as Peace Corps volunteers in their respective fields — business and special education. They are the only Peace Corps volunteers from Mississippi serving in Ecuador, the third smallest country in South America.

The Browns are graduates of Mississippi State University. Mrs. Brown holds a 1972 degree in special education. Her husband is a 1973 graduate in business administration with an emphasis on management.

As Peace Corps volunteers, they have both gained experience in their career fields. Mrs. Brown has been the director of the special education program at the Inter-American Bilingual School in Cuenca. Brown has served as a technical advisor to the Association of Small Industries for the province of Azuay.

The Peace Corps' small business assistance program in Ecuador is four years old. The Cuenca program began two years ago. Today, 250 Cuenca businessmen are active members of the small industries association.

Brown's responsibilities in his Peace Corps assignment have included facilitating bank loans for association members, providing accounting assistance and developing markets outside the country for Ecuadorian products.

He estimates he has helped "about 18 industries in some way." My clients couldn't afford this service except through Peace Corps assistance. For businessmen to get loans is difficult because most of them are just getting their feet on the ground. They have no capital and they can make no guarantee to the banks that the loan will be paid back," Brown reports.

"Part of my work was projecting their needs, justifying the loan and creating an aura of faith about banks on the part of the businessmen," he explains. Not only do the banks take a cautious attitude about fledgling businessmen, the businessmen do not always trust the banks.

"For a Peace Corps volunteer business type to come down from the States and get tied up in all the red tape here is frustrating."

Brown says. "The program is not designed for just any volunteer. You have to be very much interested in business, but you also have to slow yourself down. For everything there's a long waiting period here."

Brown says that most business graduates in the United States have an understanding of accounting. "Here, there's no formal system. Money goes in one pocket and out the other." As a result, Brown has given accounting classes to factory accountants within the association.

Brown wishes he could point to more tangible accomplishments. Yet he knows his work has made a difference. "Sure, I've made an impact but how do you quantify that? You can't," he says.

Frequently, volunteers make valuable contributions not found on their job descriptions. An activity that Brown describes as "a high point" for him has been teaching technical English to senior high school girls who plan to become secretaries.

"That's been really great. The girls are good students and it's just been so much fun. I like working on a one-to-one basis. I've felt a sense of achievement," he says.

Mrs. Brown remarks that as teachers, both she and her husband have been able "to know the students as people. It's so much better when you can get together and share."

The Browns became Peace Corps volunteers nine months after they were married. "I had a strong interest in the Peace Corps and I felt I could talk Patti into it," Brown smiles. "We put on our Peace Corps application that we were going to get married — so we went ahead and got married."

"I'd been sheltered," his wife admits. "I wouldn't have had the courage to become a volunteer on my own. Then too, if I had done it alone, I couldn't have shared it later. Now, since we've been in the Peace Corps together, we'll have this all our lives."

Mrs. Brown feels that by being in an entirely new situation, "you learn so much about life. You can form more objective opinions about the States when you're away. We've discussed how it'll be a shock to go home. But we feel it's time to start our life in the States again."

Mrs. Brown's parents visited she and her husband in Ecuador. Mrs. Brown says, "My parents were completely changed by the visit. They'd never been out of the States before. I saw them become younger before my very eyes."

The experience also helped her parents answer some questions and perhaps still some doubts, Mrs. Brown believes. "I think they wondered if our work here was really important enough for us to leave Mississippi. I asked myself the same question at first. Do they really need me in Ecuador? Because they need me in Mississippi too."

PEACE CORPS VOLUNTEER Patti Brown of Durant, Miss., has been the director of a special education program at the Inter-American Bilingual School in Cuenca, Ecuador for the past two years. She is a 1972 graduate of Mississippi State University.

Mrs. Brown has no reservations about the answer. As director of the special education program at the Inter-American Bilingual School, she knows she has filled an important role. "Ecuador is probably about where the United States was 20 years ago regarding special education," she observes.

She defines special education as "the education of any child who has subnormal intelligence or any highly gifted child or any child whom the regular school system is not equipped to handle."

The school offers the only special education program in Cuenca. "And we're the only school in Ecuador that has special education kids integrated into the regular school," she says. There are 50 students aged five to 21, and four teachers in the program.

USM speech department moves into new quarters

HATTIESBURG — The Department of Speech and Hearing at the University of Southern Mississippi has just moved into a spacious new building on the west side of the campus.

Intended as a home for USM's communication-oriented sciences, the new structure is named the Speech and Hearing Building, after the department's first building on the west side of the campus.

Dr. Robert C. Rhodes, chairman of the Department of Speech and Hearing Sciences, is delighted that the department is able to work in surroundings so different from his cramped quarters in the USM Honors House, where the department had been located for the past 10 years.

"It is going to enhance all aspects of our program," Rhodes said. "It will enable us to incorporate all activities under one roof. Previously we had our office and clinic in the Honors House, but the School for Children with Language Disorders was in a different building."

According to Rhodes, the new building and the new equipment that came with it will help the department train students in speech pathology, audiology, and education of the hearing impaired. "It will also enable us to provide a more complete and efficient community service," Rhodes added.

Rhodes explained that the department works with persons who have any type of communication disorder related to speech, hearing, or language.

"This includes youngsters who have not learned language on time nor properly, for reasons of environmental conditions, brain damage, retardation or impaired hearing," he said. "The department also works with people who have lost language following a stroke and with adults who need to learn a new voice after undergoing laryngectomy or removal of the voice box by surgery."

The function that most people associate with the department is its work with children who have impairments of hearing or problems with speech.

Rhodes outlined three separate programs dealing with this kind of work.

The School for Children with Language Disorders, under the direction of Dr. Etoile DuBard, meets the language learning and academic needs of youngsters who are unable to function in public schools because of their inability to learn language effectively.

The Language Pre-School Group, overseen by Mary Schaub, is designed to help children with language or speech problems overcome their disability to the point that they can enter the first grade in a public school. Several children have completed this program in the past year and will be able to start school this September.

The Pre-School Program for the Hearing Impaired, operated by Noel Lehrer, teaches language and speech to the hard of hearing and deaf, who would be unable to receive such services elsewhere in the community.

"The recognition of hearing impairments at an early age is of tremendous importance," Rhodes emphasized, "and one of our aims is to make parents aware of this. "We will have one of the best-equipped hearing-test facilities in the mid-South. We will be able to test all aspects of hearing and to conduct hearing-aid evaluations for persons requesting such services."

Rhodes added that it is not necessary to have a medical referral to benefit from the department's clinical services. A fee is charged, he said, but the schedule is flexible and no one is turned away because of inability to pay.

Besides service to the community, the department conducts a training program to make its students professionals. Offering degrees all the way through the Ph.D., the department, Rhodes said, "is the only nationally accredited clinical and training program in the state." Accreditation is awarded by the American Speech and Hearing Association.

Eastland to address watershed congress

Sen. James O. Eastland (Miss.) will address the 23rd National Watershed Congress to be held June 27-30 at the Sheraton-Biloxi. Eastland is chairman of a Senate Subcommittee that approves plans for upstream flood prevention and water conservation project.

"Alternatives in Watershed Management" is the theme of the Congress which is being held by 30 national conservation, civic, agricultural, business, and environmental organizations. The purpose is to explore ways to improve management of soil, water, forest, and wildlife resources on a stream valley-unit basis.

Norman A. Berg, associate administrator of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, will give the keynote speech at the meeting. His topic is "Land Use Changes in America: Effects on Natural Resources."

Other speakers include Leonard Ledbetter, Georgia Department of Natural Resources; L.L. McDowell, Agricultural Research Service; Richard Hollier, Louisiana Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts; Gary Cobb, U.S. Water Resources Council; and Floyd Heft, Ohio Division of Soil Conservation.

Also featured on the program are James Crooks, Environmental Protection Agency; Arthur W. Nelson, Carroll J. Perkins, Mississippi State University; and Keith Harmon, Wildlife Management Institute.

Awards will be presented at the meeting to Thomas T. Hamilton of Elk Grove Village, Ill., who has been named Watershed Man of the Year; and to the Duncan Creek Watershed of South Carolina.

Members of the Conference Steering Committee are David G. Unger, National Association of Conservation Districts, chairman; James B. Craig, American Forestry Association; John S. Gottschalk, International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners; Laurence R. Jahn, Wildlife Management Institute; and Joseph B. Willson, Jr., Association of State Soil Conservation Administrative Officers. Chairman of the Host Committee is Gale Martin, Executive Secretary of the Mississippi State Soil and Water Conservation Commission.

Opinion/Jake Jacob

The superintendent - not the school board - is the chief administrator

This week the Hancock County School Board voted to by-pass their superintendent and directly undertake the hiring and firing of non-certified personnel.

Prior to undertaking this act, individual board members expressed the thought that this decision will remove the "scapegoat" stigma from the superintendent. Further, they claimed, it provides a more readily accessible and recognizable "boss" to these employees.

The "boss" under this system, at least superficially, is the school principal. He is to undertake the interviewing, recommending, and presumably the "unrecommending" should an employee perform his duties unsatisfactorily. Only one board member - and he a veteran political tight rope walker - sensing the error in these ways, stood aside in abstention rather than casting a lone "nay."

Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph, who had protested this intention at previous sessions, said the resolution will undermine his authority by removing school system employees from his control, and put the school board directly into the schools.

Board members insisted their act was within state law, a fact not disputed by their legal representative who wrote the resolution for passage.

Apart from creating obvious friction between the superintendent's office and his school administrators, the new rule puts unfair pressures onto the principals.

Further, while we do not necessarily suggest such is the intent, the ruling opens the door to political patronage, a factor too long suspected of playing undue influence within the county system.

On three occasions last year the voters of this county went to the ballot box to elect their educational superintendent. By doing so they clearly indicated their preference.

We had high hopes at the time of his investiture that precedents suitable for others to follow could be established during his administration.

The man selected by the voters to administer the county's educational affairs has ample classroom teaching experience; holds a secondary education baccalaureate from the University of Southern Mississippi; a masters degree in school administration and supervision from Mississippi College, and is working towards his doctorate in school administration.

Since taking office he has spoken on such advance measures as centralized purchasing and consolidated accounting, to streamline the system's operation while holding the line on costs, and instituted several improvements within the system's instructional framework.

Now, girding for his first, full school year - and real opportunity to apply his formal training and practical knowledge, he forged and sought passage of an updated set of guidelines - the system's policy manual - to better perform his tasks.

As part of this policy, he sought to establish the method of hiring and firing non-certified personnel.

To maintain the chain of command and consistency of operation, present in every business or service, he called for the school principal to recommend his non-certified personnel to him for presentation to the board, along with his, the superintendent's recommendations. This is the same procedure followed in the hiring of the certified personnel, and one pursued, we suspect, in 99 percent of all the other school systems of this nation.

It was this policy implementation the board refused to adopt, preferring instead to exercise their own hire-fire right.

The county system will operate its 1976-77 school year on a budget of approximately $1,500,000.

The superintendent is charged with disbursing this sum and is responsible to the voters, the state, and federal governments for such spending.

Of that total, approximately $1 million is budgeted for professional and office salaries, $182,000 or thereabouts for non-professional employee salaries, and the balance to school maintenance, supplies, and operations.

The county system has 167 employees and, as we understand the count, 110 of these are classified as certified personnel, leaving 57 in the uncertified category.

In other words, whether the school board realizes the obvious implications or not, through their direct involvement in school affairs, they now exercise control over approximately one third of all the system's employees.

We do not feel this state of affairs is healthy for this county nor one desired by its electorate.

The chief educator of the county school system was voted into office to administer the affairs of the system under the direction of his board.

The school board's function is to operate in the fields of policy establishment, long and short range funding, overall system guidance, and the like.

There exists no valid reason for an overlap of these responsibilities or areas of authority.

We submit the school board should rescind its motion of intervention into noncertified hires and fires, and any other like resolutions on its minute books.

Again, and we emphasize, the superintendent was elected to serve as the board's administrator. Let him now serve as such - and let the school board stay out of the schools.

Trusting Congress

Members of Congress should know by now. If it's tolerated by fellow members, the wrongdoing of a few can cast a cloud of suspicion and mistrust over the innocent as well as the guilty.

And that's the way it should be. If Congress can't police itself and clean its own house in full view of the public, then Congress shouldn't be surprised when public opinion polls show that large numbers of Americans distrust their elected officials.

This year alone we've heard allegations that one House member used his office to benefit himself financially, that another filed dishonest travel claims, and that still another misused public funds. On top of all that, we've had at least one member indicted by a grand jury in recent weeks for accepting bribes.

At least as bad as all that are the public assumptions that members of Congress "protect" each other by looking the other way when they suspect illegal activities are taking place. That's difficult to refute when you consider that the House Ethics Committee has been in business for some nine years and has yet to establish itself as an effective congressional watchdog.

The Ethics Committee can do itself a favor - and can help restore the good name of the Congress - by proceeding with thorough investigations of each charge brought before it and by taking swift, appropriate action once those investigations have been completed.

We've seen in the recent past that Congress is fully capable of recognizing abuses and criminal activities in the Executive branch of the government. We now need to see if we're just as capable of weeding out corruption and abuse of power within our own ranks.

Our Code of Official Conduct clearly states that a member, officer or employee of the House of Representatives shall:

- Conduct himself at all times in a manner which shall reflect creditably on the House of Representatives;
- Adhere to the spirit and letter of the Rules of the House and to the rules of duly constituted committees thereof;
- Receive no compensation nor permit any compensation to accrue to his beneficial interest from any source, the receipt of which would occur by virtue of influence improperly exerted from his position in Congress; and
- Accept no gift of substantial value, directly or indirectly, from any person, organization or corporation having a direct interest in legislation before the Congress.

The straight and narrow path doesn't stop there. There are laws on the books directing members of Congress to account for every penny of campaign funds. There are very strict laws regarding campaign contributions as well as campaign funds. There are very strict laws regarding campaign expenditures as well as campaign expenditures. In short, members of Congress are subject to very stringent regulations.

Part of the problem in Congress is the abuse of power that results when individual members obtain too much power from certain key assignments. Members need to realize that they're accountable not only to their constituents, but to their fellow members of Congress as well.

"Any abuse of public office further diminishes the confidence of the American people in their Congress," a distinguished member of the House of Representatives told reporters recently. "Those elected to public office owe it to the people to be worthy of their trust."

I wholeheartedly agree. We have an obligation not only to the American people, but to ourselves as well to review the distribution of congressional power.

The year 1976 has proven a good year for recollections...for reevaluations...reminiscing. Let's "turn back the clock!"

Most patrons of the Bay St. Louis Hancock Bank enjoy...the tasteful paintings to be seen on the walls. All typical of our area. Occasionally a teller will be asked: "What artist did Elmwood Manor?"

Elmwood Manor stands facing the Bay of St. Louis and may be approached from Boardman Avenue also.

My next-door-neighbor, Mrs. Helene Coward Price, recently researched records in our Hancock County Court House showing 14 conveyances of Title to Elmwood between the years 1826 and 1962. She also did a bit of reminiscing:

"This old home originally stood on a 550 acre plantation," Mrs. Price explained and added "The land comprised all that area of north Bay St. Louis from and including Leopold Street stretching from the Bay back to Jordan River."

It is believed Elmwood was built in the early 1830's by Jesse Coward I. His grave, together with that of his wife, several children and other descendants is in the old Coward Cemetery on Leopold Street.

"There used to be a dirt road from Boardman Avenue through the woods to and past the cemetery, but it is now overgrown with trees and underbrush," Mrs. Price explained.

The youngest son of Jesse Coward, named Charles T. Coward, was born in a second floor bedroom at Elmwood in 1846. (Charles is the grandfather of Mrs. Price).

"In 1820 Jesse Coward purchased the property where Elmwood now stands from Melitte Lessasser. This was an original land grant from the Spanish Government to Lessasser. Bricks used in Elmwood were brought from Spain and had been used as ballast in ships." "During those early days the beachfront extended out some 500 or more feet from where it now is. (Lands have been eaten away by storms). Indians in this area piled up shells along the beachfront - shells from clams gathered from the front waters. These clam shells were crushed and used in the mortar for building Elmwood, Mrs. Price said.

Jesse Coward I lived originally in New Orleans, having moved to that area from Virginia prior to the War of 1812. He participated in the Battle of New Orleans, and following the War had a coeprage business in New Orleans. During the 1820's Mr. Coward lived in the home which is now the Hunter Kimbrough residence. There the Coward family lived while Elmwood was being constructed.

In 1875 the plantation property was divided among heirs. One small piece of this old plantation remains in the Coward family. It is owned by Malcolm A. Coward and faces Julia Street. The Coward Cemetery, private and well kept, has graves of many descendants of Mrs. Price's great grand father, Jesse Coward I.

What artist painted the likeness of Elmwood that hangs in Hancock Bank? A professor from Louisiana State University of Baton Rouge - B. E. Looney.

Why was the estate named Elmwood? Lovely shade trees of Elm once lined the carriage drive to the estate. One of these ancient elms escaped the disease that destroyed most elms. It may be viewed from North Beach Drive. Take time out to drive slowly pass Elmwood, a dignified reminder of leisure-paced yesteryears with cotton plantations, afternoon lemonades served on wide verandas, Sunday socials and picnics. A new, young land - a blessed heritage.

ELMWOOD MANOR still stands peacefully facing the Bay of St. Louis amid the shade of moss draped oaks and the solitary elm which once graced the grounds and gave the mansion its name.

Property tax... Mississippi's jigsaw puzzle

Mississippi's Constitution of 1890 makes the state's doctrine of taxation as clear as mountain spring water.

However, current practices have made the issue as muddy as Ole Man River.

Section 112: "Taxation shall be uniform and equal throughout the state. Property shall be taxed in proportion to its value. Property shall be assessed for taxes under general laws, and by uniform rules, in proportion to its value."

The policy of Mississippi taxation is established firmly in that section of our state's governing document. No part of that section has been repealed, deleted, or ruled unlawful by the Supreme Court. But, it has been ignored.

A quick dissection of the law will show how the tax law has become muddled.

"Taxation shall be uniform and equal throughout the state."

-Assessments in Mississippi counties range from an average as low as 7 percent of value to as high as 30 percent of value. The discrepancy causes residents of some counties to face higher assessments than those of other counties. As a result, those who live in the counties with higher assessments pay more on the four-mill tax going to the state than do taxpayers in counties with lower assessments.

-Frequently neighbors will discover that even though they own homes of similar value, one may be paying considerably more taxes than the other. Such problems are caused by outdated assessments and nonuniform practices.

"Property shall be taxed in proportion to its value. Property shall be assessed for taxes under general laws, and by uniform rules, in proportion to its value."

Letters to the Editor

HUD agreements

Dear Editor: I would appreciate it very much if you would print the following statement in your newspaper.

For the past several months the Department of Housing and Urban Development has been attempting to negotiate a Voluntary Affirmative Marketing Agreement with Gulf Coast area realtors, home builders, and mortgage lenders. The Counties involved are Harrison, Hancock, Pearl River and Jackson.

No indictment of the Gulf Coast housing industry is to be inferred from this effort. Indeed, HUD has received relatively few housing discrimination complaints from the area. The department is merely requesting that the housing industry consider doing a bit more on a voluntary basis.

There are differences as to the details of each section of the Agreement, because each component of the private housing industry performs different services. However, some common traits may be observed.

The Fair Housing Law, the Civil Rights Act of 1968 (as amended to include females in 1974), provides protection for minorities in order that they will receive equal treatment in their efforts to secure housing. In general, the guiding principle is that all citizens are entitled to buy or rent the kind of home located wherever they wish that they can afford.

This same Fair Housing Law provides that the HUD Secretary may enter into voluntary compliance programs with the private housing industry. It is under the authority of this part of the statute that the negotiations for a Voluntary Affirmative Marketing Agreement are being conducted.

The Voluntary Agreement provides for the following: non-discrimination in the service provided; affirmative action in advertising non-discrimination policies in the minority community; affirmative action in attracting minority employees to the private housing industry; affirmative action in support of minorities to become brokers and realtors; realtors and mortgage lenders would sensitize their staffs to the Fair Housing Law and to the Agreement; and the establishment of a Community Housing Resources Board (made up of a cross-section of the community including minority representation) to meet periodically with the housing industry and HUD to discuss the progress being made in implementing the Agreement.

The voluntary compliance approach actually entails a reduction in the paperwork for home builders and realtors. It also provides a mechanism by which the private housing industry and communities can solve their own housing problems.

Sincerely, Fred T. Nolan, Director Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity

IRS issues exemption to school

JACKSON--The Internal Revenue Service has issued a ruling recognizing the tax-exempt status of a Mississippi private school that has announced a racially non-discriminatory policy in admission of students to all activities of the school. William Daniel, IRS District Director for Mississippi, said today. The school is the Red Hills Arts Association located in Louisville.

The ruling has been issued under the statement of position announced by the IRS on July 10, 1970, concerning the tax-exempt status of private schools. In that statement, the IRS concluded that it could no longer legally justify recognizing exempt status to private schools that practice racial discrimination. Nor can it allow gifts to such schools to be treated as charitable deductions for income tax purposes. The IRS position is applicable to all private schools throughout the United States.

The Red Hills Arts Association has publicized its racially non-discriminatory policy in a local newspaper.

Where a school has publicly announced its racially non-discriminatory policy, Daniel explained that for purposes of issuing a ruling the IRS will assume that such a policy has been adopted and will be maintained in good faith. This is in accord with normal IRS procedures in processing requests for rulings based on future activities.

The IRS maintains a vigorous program of auditing tax-exempt organizations. Examination of private schools will take into account any complaints from the public or information from other sources that would indicate noncompliance with assurances made by the school to the IRS. If an examination indicates that a school has not administered its nondiscriminatory policy in good faith, the tax-exempt status of the school will be challenged.

School board gives principals authority for non-certified personnel

By JAKE JACOB
County School Board member Eric Larsen of Kiln abstained from voting Monday when the question of non-certified personnel hiring once again surfaced on the board's agenda.

Previously marked by sparked cross-opinion between school board member Johnny Banks, and Superintendent Terrell Randolph, and tabled until a full board could be present, the subject arose again Monday when board president Monvel Cuevas broached passage of the controversial paragraph of their intended written policies.

Members agreed to approve all sections less the non-certified personnel section which, on motion by Tommy Shaw, they amended. Under the revised policy resolution, school principals will have authority to recommend the involved personnel for hiring or firing directly to the school board for their sanction. Monday's vote would bypass the superintendent's office, his endorsement or recommendation.

Randolph voiced his objections claiming it will break down the chain of command and seriously affect his authority within the school system.

Larsen said he agreed that the chain of command should remain intact.

"While the board does not have to accept or reject these recommendations, I do think the superintendent should have a say so, since he has to sign the checks," said Randolph.

Ironically, it was Larsen's absence at the previous session that had permitted the hold-over until Monday.

Randolph said the resolution would simply put the school board into the school.

"If you see something wrong you should see me or the principal. It's your duty and responsibility to pass on whatever you wish and I will try to go whatever way you want, but if the principal is to interview and recommend these people directly to the board you are taking away my responsibility," the superintendent said.

Board member Johnny Banks, who seconded the motion, agreed with Shaw that the motion was intended to put the responsibility directly onto the principal.

"These people don't know who is their boss," Banks said. "Some think the principal is their boss, some the superintendent and some the school board," Shaw said, in explanation to Randolph's claim that he would be the scapegoat.

Cuevas, who had previously complained that the bypassing of a chain of command made a system non-functional, said "I think you should never break the chain of command but I also would like to see how this system will work."

Larsen said that state law permits this direct hiring policy to be adopted by school boards, a matter not disputed by board attorney Joseph Gex.

Switching to transportation, the board voted to purchase two new school buses for a combined cost of $24,946 from the Bus Supply Co. of McComb. Under the agreement, chassis for the units would be supplied by Turan-Lane Chevrolet of Bay St. Louis, with the bus supply company installing Thomas Body units. Price included delivery to Bay St. Louis.

Randolph also told trustees of a plan whereby his department was refurbishing existing buses during the holidays, replacing worn engines with new ones to get additional life from buses still possessing good bodies.

The board agreed to favor a request made by Frank Dunaway of Southern Engineering Co., concerning the leasing of recreational facilities at Lakeshore and Pearlinton to the county, upon arrival of complete legal descriptions.

The lease, for an estimated five year span, was sought on a football-baseball field combination at Gulfview School, and an intended baseball diamond at Pearlinton to enable the installation of lights and the undertaking of other improvements. These improvements, Dunaway said, were being made under a Community Development, Housing and Urban Development grant to the county for recreational purposes. Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge, who was also present, said further installations were being provided at Necaise and Kiln.

where baseball and softball combination diamonds were to be constructed.

In other matters, school trustees heard Randolph outline the requirement for a central accounting system saying such would save money and permit a closer monitoring of accounts.

Further, the superintendent indicated a desire to install a central purchasing authority, buying for the whole system, at a subsequent saving of cost.

Randolph also sought and obtained a motion calling for an annual audit of school activity funds.

Finally, no action was taken on a renewed request, from Randolph and Hancock North Central principal James O'Hara for a $500 supplement for David Ward for services rendered as assistant principal over the last six weeks of school.

Weather radio announced for Coast

Congressman Trent Lott (R-Miss.) today announced that a new government-operated radio station for continuous broadcasts of weather information to the Mississippi Gulf Coast is now on the air on a test basis.

The new station, KIH-21, is located in Gulfport and is operated by the National Weather Service Office in Mobile, Ala. It is part of an expanding system being installed by the Commerce Department's National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), parent agency of the Weather Service.

The network eventually will total more than 300 stations and will provide continuous weather information to about 90 percent of the U.S. population.

"We've been talking with people over at NOAA for some time about this weather station," Lott said. "They agreed with us that the Mississippi Gulf Coast is in need of this kind of service and I'm very pleased that they've decided to go ahead with this weather radio service."

The new NOAA Weather Radio station in Gulfport is undergoing final adjustments and is expected to be commissioned on Monday, June 14. The station transmits weather warnings, radar reports, and marine and coastal weather forecasts for southeast Mississippi.

The taped weather messages will be broadcast continuously 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Each broadcast message will last three to five minutes, then will be recycled. Messages will be updated as quickly as new information is available, and routinely revised every one to three hours.

Lott pointed out that a high-band radio receiver is needed to pick up the KIH-21 frequency of 162.40 megahertz because receivers designed for commercial FM broadcasts usually go no higher than 108 megahertz. Such receivers, he said, are now available in a variety of sizes and types.

Effective range of the NOAA Weather Radio broadcasts is about 40 miles from the transmitter in Gulfport, but may be extended somewhat by purchase of a high-quality receiver and use of a high, outside antenna. Because of the high radio frequency involved, transmission may at times be blocked or disturbed by hills, large buildings or nearby commercial transmitters.

For this reason, Lott stressed, persons planning to purchase a receiver for the Weather Radio broadcasts are advised to make final acceptance conditional upon a test of the receiver in the setting in which it is to be used.

The NOAA Weather Radio service is mainly for persons making decisions involving recreational boating, fishing, travel, construction and other weather-dependent activities and who need this information on demand at any time of day or night.

An additional feature of the new service is a refinement built into some radio receivers which permits them to sound a weather warning automatically by means of an audible tone signal activated by the Weather Service office.

Such warning alarm receivers are valuable for use by schools, hospitals, nursing homes, public safety agencies and news media offices since they provide warning alerts without the need for continuous monitoring.

For further information, write or call Meteorologist in Charge Ray H. Barnes, P. O. Box 8903, National Weather Service Office, Mobile, Ala. 36608, phone (205) 342-2458.

Overlay system cuts interstate sign expense

Weather-beaten interstate signs showing age and deterioration are now being made new through a process that saves money and time. The Mississippi State Highway Department has started a sign improvement program which will utilize and overlay process of replacement.

Highway sign replacement in the past was done by maintenance crews as signs became illegible, but as sign inventories increased with new construction and the near completion of the interstate system, signs were wearing out faster than the crews could replace them.

A study was made as to the best means of replacing such a large number of signs in the shortest possible time. To determine a priority replacement schedule, the Traffic Control and Safety Division evaluated each sign and rated each as to its remaining life. The sign estimated to have a remaining life of four years or less are to be replaced first.

area would be completely unsigned and unsafe. With the overlay system, the original sign is never removed as the overlay is riveted to the older sign.

Materials used in the new system come in 4 x 8 sheets covered with reflective materials. This material has a higher reflectivity at night and a longer expected life than does the material used on the original signs. For larger signs many sheets may have to be used. The sign is measured and laid out on a table like a giant puzzle. Once completed the pieces are numbered and placed on a truck. The sign crew is sent into an area for their week's work to replace an average of twenty signs.

The first project let was for $100,000 and is a savings of 30 percent over the replacement method previously used by the Department, with the remaining signs to be overlaid as funding and scheduling permits.

USM services center provides instruction

HATTIESBURG — The Special Services Center, a federally funded program at the University of Southern Mississippi, is designed to help eligible students gain the skills necessary to compete successfully in the classroom. Students scoring minimum admission requirements are eligible, and they receive personalized services, including reading evaluations and career counseling.

Of the 110 students currently in the program, 50 entered as freshmen and have regularly received academic advisement, including special tutoring and scheduling assistance.

one-to-one basis. About 20 are taking advantage of the Center's offerings for a variety of other reasons.

At the end of the spring quarter, five students in the program made the President's List, nine the Dean's List, and about 50 percent had grade point averages of 2.2 on a 4 point system.

The Center employs about 30 tutors, either on a wage basis for one-to-one tutoring or on yearly fellowships, from the English and mathematics departments. It also has one full-time counselor and assistance from graduate fellows and University teachers.

Thought for father's day - how to be a good dad

DR. WHITT SCHULTZ

As I travel around this great nation on my lecture tours and consulting assignments, I have the opportunity to meet and know many fine business executives.

Several business subjects are on their collective minds today: How to increase sales ... how to trim costs ... how to manage money ... how to market their job skills ... how to survive in our turbulent world.

But there are other, very human things in their thoughts, too.

One subject that enters discussions more and more nowadays is an extremely fundamental one. That is, how to be a good dad! In my admittedly brief research in this field to date, I'm learning some amazing things about the United States executive ... and his personal family relationships. For example, I recently asked several men this key question:

"How much actual time do you spend with your family?"

Here are their verbatim replies:

If I spend one hour a day with them, I feel lucky. ... "Not enough. Only time I seem to really see them is on vacation, once a year. ..."

"I only invest a maximum of five minutes a day with my son and I think that's terrible! I can remember when I was a boy, I was with my dad several hours every day - and all weekends. ..."

"Only 10 minutes a week. And I'm embarrassed that it's so little time. ..."

As the business picture brightens...and the economy strengthens, perhaps these (and other) dads will spend more time with their families. Meanwhile, here are some "notes at random" about HOW TO BE A GOOD DAD:

(By the way, the writer of this column is trying very hard to be one too! But, he has a lot to learn!)

First of all, "What is a Father?" Here are some excerpts from a book with that same title, authored by Lee Parr McGrath and Joan Scobey:

are male." -Wendy
"A father is your next best friend." -Barry L.

"What is father? For most children he is an idle." -Polly
"What is a father? A person who coaches your baseball game when he's not the coach." -Ricky

"Your father and my father may look and act different - but they all have problems." -Luther K. Jansen surveyed 284 families to measure family solidarity wherein Dad assumed the role of family boss. He decided that this solidarity was evidenced by eight characteristics:

1) Agreement with each other.
2) Cooperation with each other.

3) Concern for each other's welfare.
4) Enjoyment of association with each other.

5) Affection for each other.
6) Esteem or admiration for each other.

7) Interest in each other.
8) Confidence or trust in each other.

Several years ago, a British psychologist conducted a survey among 100,000 children between the ages of eight and 14. He asked them to make a list of rules which would apply to the behavior of parents toward their offspring. Here are the most commonly listed rules:

1. Don't quarrel in front of your children.
2. Never lie to a child.

3. Always answer children's questions.
4. Treat all your children with equal affection.

5. There must be a mutual tolerance between parents.

6. There should be comradeship between children and parents.

7. Treat your children's friends as welcome visitors.

8. Don't blame or punish your child in the presence of his friends.

9. Concentrate on your child's good points and don't overemphasize his failings.

10. Be constant in your affection and your moods.

Check with headquarters

Sandra Henley checks with headquarters at the Hancock County Sheriff's Office before leaving on daily rounds. She is interning at the sheriff's office this summer to earn credit toward her degree in criminal justice.

Hancock's newest deputy makes the rounds with curves

By CAROLE LANGE
She dresses in khaki pants and shirt, wears a badge, and has the distinction of being the first "gun-totin'" female deputy in the Hancock County Sheriff's Office.

Sandra Henley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emile Henley of Bay St. Louis, is interning this summer with the sheriff's office to earn nine hours credit toward her degree in criminal justice at the University of Southern Mississippi.

With three weeks on-the-job training behind her, Sandra is convinced that law enforcement is the career for her.

"I don't know if it's like this for the other interns," she said, "but I've learned more here than in my entire three and a half years at school."

Sandra, a senior who will graduate in November, had her first assignment with Ronnie Peterson and Paul Bernard of the narcotics squad.

"They didn't just start me off typing and answering the phone, they took me with them on their rounds."

Sandra admits she was "a little nervous" when she first accompanied the officers on an investigation of disturbing the peace. "I didn't have my gun yet, so Mr. Bernard gave me his nightstick to hold."

"I knew they wouldn't let me get hurt, but I had no idea what to expect."

According to Sandra, all officers "have to expect the unexpected" when dealing with suspects.

She said seeing persons "at their worst" took some getting used to. "Sometimes it just makes me sick when you know they're lying and there's not a thing you can do about it."

Sometimes, however, she said encounters with suspects can be humorous.

She told of one incident when she and the officers stopped to investigate a van parked on the side of the highway.

"A man was sitting inside without any clothes on and he wouldn't roll down the window to talk to us. We thought he might have had a gun, so we were all a little wary."

However, as it turned out, the man and his wife, who was sitting in the back seat, also nude, were waiting for someone to repair their car. "They took off their clothes to escape the heat and they didn't want to roll down the windows because of the mosquitoes."

When asked how people react to a woman deputy, Sandra replied, "Some of them laugh, some of them ask questions, a lot of them just stare and some of them think I'm Mr. Bernard's daughter."

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said

Dispatcher duty

Deputy Henley will work in all phases of the sheriff's office during her summer internship. Here she takes notes while on dispatcher duty.

Sandra will work in all departments of the sheriff's office "so she can get a real feel for what we do here."

He said he was "a little concerned" when she applied for the job and asked to carry a gun "but she's 21, commissioned, and a full-fledged deputy so she has the right to."

Southern does not offer a course in gun handling, but Sandra felt it would "come in handy" so she enrolled in a 12-week course at Jones County Junior College in Laurel. At the end of the course, she placed first in the female students' division at a pistol match sponsored by the department.

"I'm not a 'dead-eye', but I do know how to take care of myself."

Sandra said she would like to find a government job following graduation. She said she's had two interviews, and two rejections, from the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"The first time they said I was too short and the second time I was told I didn't have the right college major."

During that first interview, Sandra told the agent that being short would be an asset "because I could hide easier."

She said he stopped her cold with his reply, "But miss, we don't hide."

Sandra said she was leaning heavily toward applying for a position with the Mississippi Highway Patrol, but after talking with patrolmen who frequent the sheriff's office "I decided I just couldn't handle all those drunks and wrecks."

She said she has investigated one accident during her brief tenure with the sheriff's office "and it left me pretty upset because a child was hurt."

Sandra began studying education but switched to her current major during the last quarter of her freshman year.

She said she was advised by one of her professors "to be a teacher or secretary, but that just made me more determined to be an officer."

Sandra's parents are pleased about her career choice, but she admits to receiving constant warnings from her boy friend, a law enforcement instructor, "to keep your head down."

Pets should be protected from bicentennial fireworks

The bicentennial observances that will take place throughout the United States on July 4th will be a source of joy to Americans but a possible source of misery to their pets, reports leading pet authorities.

Firecrackers are a traditional highlight of Fourth of July celebrations in many sections of the country, but authorities say dogs, with their extra-sensitive hearing, are likely to become terror-stricken when firecrackers begin exploding nearby.

No dog owner should deliberately expose a dog to a noisy celebration on the theory that the animal will "get used to it" and settle down after a few minutes, researchers at the Gaines Dog Research Center in White Plains, N.Y. say.

MR. AND MRS. RANDY PONDER

Ponder-McGinity

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the June 5 wedding of Miss Sherry Ann McGinity, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Edward McGinity of Bay St. Louis and James Randall Ponder, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Clayton Ponder, Cedartown, Ga.

The Very Rev. Gregory Johnson performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with daisies and baby's breath. Mrs. John McKenna provided the music for the service, and Bro. Patrick McGinity, Dallas, Tex., brother of the bride, read the scriptures.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white summer cotton styled along Empire lines. The square-cut yoke and long puffed sleeves were trimmed in crocheted lace. She wore an elbow-length veil of illusion edged in lace and carried a nosegay of white daisies, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Louis (Kathleen) Morel III of Buras, La. She wore a pink jersey knit full length gown with cross-tied cummerbund and short cap sleeves. Miss Jude Blaize of Bay St. Louis was maid of honor. She wore a blue gown identical to that of the matron of honor. They carried cascades of white daisies and baby's breath.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Richard Ponder of Bay St. Louis. Groomsman was Terry McGinity, Jacksonville, Fla., brother of the bride. Serving as ushers were Michael McGinity, Bay St. Louis, brother of the bride, and Louis Morel III, Buras.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McGinity wore a shrimp-colored street length A-line dress with matching jacket and white accessories. Mrs. Ponder chose a baby blue two-piece suit with white accessories. White sweetheart rose corsages complemented their ensembles.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the American Legion Club House. Arrangements of white daisies and baby's breath decorated the reception room and gracefully skirted tables enhanced with flowers and candles held the refreshments.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with white and yellow daisies. Presiding at the cake table was Mrs. Charles Foolson and Mrs. Darryl Favre presided at the punch table. Miss Karen Buehler kept the guest register.

For traveling to the Cayman Islands, the bride wore a light blue pants suit with navy blue accessories and a yellow daisy corsage.

The couple is now at home in Bay St. Louis.

Out-of-town guests includes Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davis, Centre, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Chambers and Mrs. Jan Purcell, Cedartown, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Prince and sons, Jasper, Ala.; Howard Wright, British Columbia, Canada; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shardella and Mrs. Louella DeRocha, Biloxi; Mrs. Teen DeRocha, New Orleans, La.; and Wayne Fillingame, Fairbanks, Alaska.

Bilbo-Wilkinson

Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Bilbo Sr. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Darlene, to Floyd Henry Wilkinson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F.H. Wilkinson Sr. all of Bay St. Louis.

The wedding will take place July 24 at 2 p.m. at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church followed by a reception at the American Legion Hall in Waveland.

The bride-elect is a junior at Bay High School. She is the granddaughter of Ferdinand Ramond and the late Cecile Ramond of Bay St. Louis and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Necaize, Kiln, and the late Otis Bilbo.

A 1974 graduate of Bay High, the prospective groom attended Pearl River Junior College and is currently employed at Ingalls.

He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. M.H. Wilkinson of Yazoo City and Mrs. T.A. Foster Sr. and the late Mr. Foster of Vicksburg.

MR. AND MRS. JOE LAYNE

Layne-Davis

Miss Janet Rai Davis and Joe Richard Layne were united in marriage in a June 6 double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Charles R. Johnson at Christ Episcopal Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Shirley Davis of Bay St. Louis and Johnnie R. Davis of Slidell, La. The groom is the son of Mrs. Carrie Roques, Bay St. Louis, and Tommy Layne, Slidell.

The bride wore an off white floor-length dress with a lace bodice. She carried a bouquet of white cysanthemums, carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Leonie Fricke, Bay St. Louis, maternal grandmother of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a blue formal gown.

Miss Judy Davis, Bay St. Louis, served her sister as bridesmaid. She wore a full-length peach gown.

The attendants carried bouquets of white and yellow cysanthemums and baby's breath.

Eddie Miller, Bay St. Louis, cousin of the groom, was best man.

A reception followed at Trapani's Sideline Club in Waveland.

For traveling to New Orleans, La., the bride wore a blue pants suit.

The couple is now at home in Bay St. Louis.

MR. AND MRS. A.K. MARTINOLICH

Bay couple celebrates 50th anniversary

A Mass of Thanksgiving was celebrated June 10 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church on the occasion of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A.K. Martinolich of Bay St. Louis.

Celebrants were Rev. Michael Tracy and Rev. Patrick Hayes, Our Lady of the Gulf; Rev. William Kelly S.V.D. and Rev. Edward Dudink, S.V.D., St. Augustine Seminary; Rev. Albert Guerho, S.C., St. Stanislaus; Rev. Danis Harlow, St. Joseph Church, Gulfport; Rt. Rev. Msgr. James J. Hannon, Our Lady of Victories Church, Pascagoula; Rev. Joseph Mercier, Sacred Heart Church, Pascagoula; and Rev. Francis X. Adams, S.C.J., St. Louis, Mo.

Attending Mrs. Martinolich was her cousin, Mrs. Doris Chapin of Gulfport.

Mrs. Chapin was Mrs. Martinolich's bridesmaid 50 years ago. Dr. A.K. Martinolich Jr. attended his father.

Kenny and Danny Lamier, grandsons of the couple, gave the welcome and readings before the Gospel.

Sister Jeanine, O.C.D. of Pass Christian, Bill Augus Jr., New Orleans, La., and Pete Parker, Delisle, provided vocal selections and the stringed music group played for the recessional.

Participants in the offertory procession included Dan Edwards Jr., Denis Dear, Teresa and Gina Carnes, Marcelle Edwards, and Kathy, Laurie and Cynthia Martinolich, grandchildren of the couple.

More than 50 friends and relatives attended the Mass and reception.

THESE "DO-IT-YOURSELFERS" are installing new no-wax flooring tile in a cobblestone pattern. The tile has a special wear surface that shines without wax. You don't have to spread adhesive, either — it's already on the back of the tile.

Do it yourself!

New tiles provide consumer savings

A recent arrival on the do-it-yourself scene is no-wax floor tile in a choice of patterns.

The distinguishing feature of true no-wax flooring is a special shiny wear surface. In other words, the shine is "built into" the flooring. And it should keep that new-floor shine for a long time without having to wax it, although you do have to clean it.

By this definition, there have been (and are) plenty of no-wax floors available but they're all what are called "sheet" floorings (floors that come in wide rolls, as opposed to individual tiles).

While some new types of sheet floorings are almost as easy to install as tiles — in fact, now there's one you just fold up like a blanket, take home and staple down at the edges — still, it's generally agreed that nothing beats self-stick tiles for easy installation.

Self-stick tiles already have the adhesive on the back when you buy them. You don't have to spend time spreading a layer of goo.

Instead, all you do is peel a piece of paper off the back of the tile to expose the adhesive, place the tile on the floor, and press down. It's that simple. And if you foul up somehow, you've only damaged one tile, not ruined a whole floor.

The new no-wax tiles have all these features — special shiny wear surface, adhesive on the back, and a choice of patterns, including cob-blestones or Dutch delft ceramic tiles in several colors.

Also, the tiles cost less to start with than many of the better grades of no-wax floors, especially those that ought to be put down by professional installer. And because you do the job yourself there's an extra savings on labor.

Calvary Baptist Church to open doors Sunday

The Calvary Baptist Church of Bay-Waveland will hold dedication and opening services, 10 a.m. Sunday, in their temporary location in the new Bay-Waveland Restaurant on U.S. 90, Waveland, according to Rev. Bobby D. Kennedy, pastor.

Rev. Kennedy extends a welcome to all people to participate in the founding service.

"A nursery and graded Sunday School are to be provided for the children," he said.

The new pastor said the church is designed to be of help and a blessing to all area residents and people in need of assistance may contact him at the church.

The building is located to the West of the former weigh scales office (now housing the Waveland Hospitality Center).

Echoes

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee and son Jamie of Omaha, Neb., have returned home after a visit with his mother Mrs. Claude Riles and Mr. Riles and his sister Mrs. Irma Levens of Bay St. Louis.

They also visited his sister Mrs. Norma Jean Hughes in Biloxi and Mrs. Lee's relatives in New Orleans.

REV. BOBBY D. KENNEDY

Former associate pastor of the New Testament Baptist Church, Pascagoula, Rev. Kennedy said, "I have come to this area to dedicate my life to founding an evangelistic, fundamental, Bible-believing church, where Christ is exalted as man's only hope."

Originally from Manchester, Tenn., a 13 years U.S. Navy veteran, he is married to the former Marlene Freehoff of Boston, Mass. The couple have four sons, one of whom is presently attending Baptist Bible College, Springfield, Mo.

Ladner, a 1975 graduate of St. Stanislaus, is majoring in criminal justice.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Perronne and sons Chris and Chad of Kenner, La., spent the weekend with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Walter Saucier.

Presbyterian women to convene

The Women of the Presbyterian Church U.S. from Mississippi and Alabama will hold their annual area training school at Belhaven College in Jackson June 22-25.

The eight Presbyteries in Mississippi and Alabama will be represented with over 200 women expected to participate in the four-day school. Classes and worship services will be scheduled for each day, with evening activities, including a time of fellowship, study and prayer.

All Presbyterian presidents from both states have been working together for the past year in the planning of this school. Presbyterian presidents in Mississippi include: St. Andrews Presbytery, Mrs. Julian Sides; Central Presbytery, Mrs. Howard Nichols; and South Mississippi Presbytery, Mrs. John Lipsey. In Alabama, Presbyterian presidents and their respective Presbyteries are: Mobile Presbytery, Mrs. Terry Moore, Jr.; Mobile; Birmingham Presbytery, Mrs. C.A. Crais; Birmingham; North Alabama Presbytery, Mrs. Robert Rea; Sylacauga; East Alabama Presbytery, Mrs. George S. Allen; Montgomery; Tuscaloosa Presbytery, Mrs. Burnell Chaney, Livingston.

The newly elected Presbyterian president for South Mississippi Presbytery is Mrs. Frank McCraven of Brookhaven. Members staffing this school have been drawn from each Presbytery in Mississippi and Alabama, with the director, Mrs. Edward A. Terry, coming from Mobile. The assistant director is Mrs. William C. Miller of Jackson. Hostess for the entire event will be Mrs. Howard Nichols, Jackson.

Among key leaders and faculty members will be the Rev. Richard O. Knott, Briarwood Presbyterian Church, Jackson, who will teach a class in "Basic Presbyterian Beliefs." The Rev. Knott attended Little Rock Junior College and Southwestern at Memphis. He holds a B.D. from Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary and a B.A. from the University of Texas.

Also, from Briarwood Presbyterian Church, Jackson, the D.C.E., Mrs. Richard L. Blount, will teach a class in "Basic Teaching Skills" for Bible leaders and church school teachers. Mrs. Blount holds a Bachelor of Music degree from Mississippi University for Women, Bachelor of English Bible and a Masters of Christian Education from Columbia Theological Seminary. She has done post graduate work toward her Ph.D. in Christian Education at Union Theological Seminary, New York City.

Classes will begin on Tuesday, following the opening worship by the Rev. Thomas W. Foley, a former missionary to Brazil and at present a staff associate of the P.C.U.S. General Executive Board in Atlanta, representing the Latin America-Caribbean area. The Rev. Foley is a graduate of Hampton Sidney College and received his B.D. and Th.M. degrees from Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va. In addition to the morning worship services, the Rev. Foley will be teaching "Our Church's International Mission."

A principal feature of the school will be the spiritual leadership of Dr. Mary Boney Sheats, chairman of the Department of Bible and Religion at Agnes Scott College, Decatur, Ga. Dr. Sheats, author of the P.C.U.S. 1976-77 Women's Study Workbook on Ephesians, will lead the Platform Bible Hour each day. She holds a B.A. degree from the University of N.C., Greensboro; a M.A., Emory University; Ph.D., Columbia University and has done post-doctoral study at Oxford University, England and St. Andrews University, Scotland. Dr. Sheats has several other publications to her credit.

Also from the headquarters office of the Presbyterian Church U.S., Atlanta, will be Dr. Jacqueline Rhoades, a Staff Associate in the Division of National Missions of the General Executive Board. She has served as an educational evangelistic missionary in Zaire; Associate Pastor of Miami's New Covenant Church; and Director of Campus Christian Life at Stillman College, Tuscaloosa.

Mrs. David E. Lindsey, a Church School teacher at Government St. Presbyterian Church, Mobile, will teach a class, "The Promise of the Spirit." Mrs. Lindsey is a graduate of Southwestern at Memphis and has done post graduate work at Memphis State University.

Extras for those attending this school include workshops for leadership in every phase of the local Women of the Church work; special interest group study; reports from the General Assembly, the highest court in the P.C.U.S., now in session at Stillman College at Tuscaloosa; round table discussions by members of the faculty and special guests; worship opportunities; and fellowship.

An additional feature of the school will be a tour of both the Old Capitol Museum and the New Capitol, and will conclude with a dinner in the State Dining Room of Mississippi's classic antebellum Governor's Mansion on Wednesday afternoon. This historic tour will be in commemoration of our Nation's Bicentennial.

The final worship hour will conclude with a communion service and the school will adjourn at noon, Friday, June 25.

Baptismal service

Terry Jores, center, was baptized in an impressive ceremony Sunday which brought to a conclusion two weeks of Bible School at Mount Chapel Baptist Church.

Waveland, Rev. Walter Beck preached the sermon and Rev. Ozie Parker, pastor, left, performed the baptism.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, in cooperation with the Hancock County Bicentennial Commission, opened "1776" - Sherman Edward's musical salute to the birth of our nation - for a four night run at its theatre on Boardman Ave., Bay St. Louis.

Doors open at 7:30 p.m. each evening, with curtain time set for 8:15 p.m. Director is Olive McKenna. Alice Holmes is producer and John Holmes is technical director. Set design is under direction of Betty Stechmann, with wigs and make-up by Diana Sones, Sandy Sharp, and Anne Ladner.

Described by Judith Crist on NBC-TV's Today Show, as "A rousing, beguiling musical drama with one fine performance after another," the play deals with the founding of America and the events leading up to the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Skip Wusnick plays the outspoken, impulsive John Adams, with Charles Lyle as John Dickinson, his congressional antagonist. Benjamin Franklin, whose opinions did much to influence the Continental Congress, is portrayed by Ted Stechmann, while Jay Decker assumes the character of the "fired" redhead from Virginia, Thomas Jefferson.

Lana Noonan is in the female lead, plays Abigail Adams, John Adams' comfort and solace even while arguing the importance of pins over saltpeper.

Martha Jefferson, who convinces both Franklin and Adams on the value of "fiddling" is portrayed by Tammy Caruthers, making her stage debut.

Pearl River enrollment sets new high

Pearl River Junior College's enrollment for the 1975-76 school year peaked at 3425, according to figures released by Marvin R. White, PRC president.

The record total includes the enrollments of the main campus in Poplarville and the Hattiesburg and Hancock centers.

On the main campus 1,986 students attended either on the academic or vocational-technical level. Nearly half, 901, of the total were registered as academic. 629 students attended vocational-technical day classes, while 312 did work in vo-tech night classes.

Adult basic education classes enrolled 111, while 33 students registered for a secondary program.

At the Hancock County Center 471 students enrolled at the three year old facility. Again the largest enrollment was in vo-tech evening programs, with 235 registered. Academic evening classes totaled 67, while 120 were figured in the secondary enrollment figure.

Vocational-technical day students numbered 39 and 10 students were listed in an adult basic education course at the Hancock campus.

PRC to offer computer course

POPLARVILLE-Pearl River College will offer a digital principles and application course beginning July 6 at the vo-tech center in Poplarville.

The new course will meet six hours per day, Monday through Friday until July 30. Five semester hours of credit can be obtained, according to Bob Dryer, class instructor.

Students will be introduced to the electronic study of computers, number systems, logic circuits, computer mathematics, counters, registers, memory devices, and in and out devices of computer language.

For more information call the PRC Vocational-Technical Department at 795-2288.

Playoff berth assured

Geroux's triple gives Legion

6-5 win over Coast Electric

Special to the Echo
Centerfielders' Kelly Geroux's rbi triple with two outs in the fifth inning gave American Legion a 6-5 win over Coast Electric Sunday in Babe Ruth action at Tiger field.

Geroux's hit scored pinch runner Charlie Vincent and gave Steve Seymour the victory on the mound. Kerry Geroux got the last two outs in the sixth with the bases loaded to seal the win.

Dwayne LaFontaine was charged with the loss going the distance. LaFontaine, Mike Richardson, Woody Necaise and Mike Prendergast all hit safely for Coast

Electric.

The victory assured Legion of a spot in the playoffs at season's end.

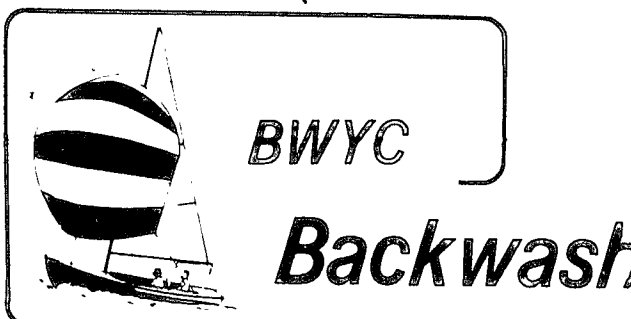

In the Sunday opener, Rotary's Blaine Thomas gave up a single to lead-off batter Donald Carver in the first inning and allowed nothing else as he mowed down Chazez Construction 16-0. Aided by 18 walks, Rotary collected only four hits in picking up their second win of the season.

Thomas went two for three at the plate and Kerry Corr and Donald Ginn singled to lead the Rotary bench. Brian Adam was tagged with the loss for Chazez.

Gulf National captures Little League

Gulf National Bank captured the Little League first half championship Wednesday June 9 with a 9-6 win over Our Shopping Center. Gulf National posted a 6-1 record to win the championship.

Mark Sivori and Neal Wilkerson led Gulf at the plate with three hits apiece. Greg Williams contributed two hits for two at bats. For Our Shopping Center, Steve Favre had three hits for three trips and Walter Ross and Dwayne Benoit each had two hits. Joe Gex was credited with the win for Gulf.

Riemann's was denied any hope for a first round playoff for the championship after Scott Adams pitched Merchants Bank to a 6-2 win over Riemann's (5-2). Adams got the lone hit for Merchants who scored six runs on one hit and four errors.

In Friday's games Riemann's defeated Hancock Bank 14-11 in the opener and American Legion crushed Merchants Bank 15-5 in the second game.

Mike Ladner led Riemann's at the plate against Hancock collecting three hits in four AB's. Shawn Henderson went the distance on the mound for Riemann's and was credited with the win.

Legion collected 14 hits in 25 trips to the plate against Merchants as the Legion batters came to life to hit well over .500 for the night. Leroy Reed got credit for the win. Roger Woodall, starting pitcher for Merchants, had two hits for three AB's.

Chazez bats blaze as Legion upset

Special to the Echo
Chazez Construction's 12 hit attack and the combined two hit pitching of David Murtagh and Ricky Hardie were plenty enough to upset American Legion 18-6 Tuesday in Babe Ruth action at Tiger Field. Hardie was the winning pitcher allowing one run in three innings. Murtagh went three for three with five rbi's and David Smith and Hewitt Parsons had two hits each to pace Chazez.

Tony Raboteau was the starter and loser for American Legion being relieved by David Strong and Steve Seymour. Charles Vincent and Kerry Geroux hit safely in the loser's cause.

In the second game, Rotary's four run sixth inning was good enough to put Dixie Realty away 9-7. Dixie had taken the lead earlier with three runs in the top half of the inning.

Kerry Corr picked up the win, fanning 10 in going the distance. Corr, Gene Tarzetti, Scott Davis and Perry Cabell all hit twice for Rotary.

Gary Sotak was the loser in relief for Ricky Manieri. Bruce Morraie, Kevin McCaleb and Alan Almond all singled for Dixie.

The second half of League play begins tonight with Rotary meeting Coast Electric in the 6 p.m. opener followed by Dixie and Chazez Construction.

Wattigney takes Eclectic tournament

Cheryl Starcevitich won the low net competition in Class A play at Ladies Play Day in Diamondhead Thursday. Second place was taken by Freda Dwyer. Low putt was won by Louise Smith. Class B winner was Ginny Holzer. Runnerup was Doris Diamond and low putt was won by Gloria Forstall. The three day Eclectic year be divided into two age groups with Division I being for children from six to 10 years-old and Division II for children 11-15-years-old.

A special blue crab division will be open for children four to five-years-old. Parents must accompany children in this age division.

All fishing will be restricted to in and around the Bay St. Louis area and will begin at 4 p.m. Friday, June 25, and close at 4 p.m. Saturday. Scales will open at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Participants must be registered before beginning to fish and all fish must be caught on hook and line with the exception of flounder, which may be gigged.

Both salt and fresh water fish may be entered and are eligible in both divisions. Eligible fish in the salt water category are speckled trout, redfish, croaker, flounder, ground mullet, white trout, sheepshead, and drum. Fresh water fish can include green trout, blue gill, perch and shell cracker.

Prizes will be awarded for first, second and third places for each eligible fish in both divisions. First through 10th place prizes will be awarded in the special blue crab division.

A special prize will be awarded for the largest fish by weight of any type caught during the rodeo by any participant.

Judges will also select a king and queen fisherman to be determined on a point basis.

Registration forms should be turned into rodeo headquarters before noon Saturday, June 26.

LITTLE LEAGUE PLAYER OF THE WEEK - Pitcher-shortstop Ronald Carter of Riemann's was named player of the week after teaming with Shawn Henderson to pitch one-hit ball for Riemann's Wednesday against Merchant's Bank.

Deep Sea Rodeo registration open

Russell J. Elliott, member of the board of directors of the annual Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, announced that persons may register to enter this year's event scheduled July 3-5 in Gulfport, at three locations in Hancock County.

Registration forms can be found at Sportsman's Paradise, Breath's Boats and Motors and Colonial Realty, all located on U.S. Highway 90. Registration can also be made by mail or at the Fishing Rodeo headquarters, registrants should mail name and complete address to Miss.

Biloxi rodeo gets underway today

BILOXI, Miss. - The 14th annual Biloxi Kiwanis Fishing Rodeo will get underway here at the International Plaza at one minute past noon today. For the next four days activity should be hot and heavy as fishermen compete for the thousands of dollars worth of prizes to be given away the last day of the rodeo, Sunday June 20.

Activities of all types are slated under the old coast guard station at the west end of the Biloxi-Ocean Springs bridge on Highway 90.

Weigh scales will open at 11 a.m. on Thursday and will remain open until 7 p.m. Thursday.

On Friday, Saturday, and Sunday the scales will open at 9 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

There is no charge for fishermen to take part in the event and registrations can be obtained under the big building when it opens on Thursday.

Food, refreshments, entertainment, a boat and marine show and other activities will be available at the site from early in the morning until late each night.

Fishing categories will include most of the salt water species found in the Coast area as well as most fresh water type fish.

This year's event will be the second time the Biloxi Kiwanis have taken to the fresh water division which will be available to adult and junior fishermen alike.

The junior rodeo event will also begin on Thursday but will end at 5 p.m. on Saturday with 88 prizes to be given away.

A new rodeo queen will also be crowned on Thursday night.

Elliott said this year's rodeo has been dubbed a "family affair" and will include carnival rides, continuous stage events and entertainment, a parachutist exhibition, bikini and sand castle contests, hot air balloon race, and a fireworks display.

The poolside beauty contest at The Broadwater Beach Motel will kick off events June 30 at 9:30 a.m. Awards presentation and drawing of the grand prize, a deluxe speed hull with motor and trailer, will conclude the weekend activities.

Daily prizes, overall prizes, grand prizes, and trophies will be awarded for both fresh water and salt water categories.

A bonfire on the beach headed up last weekend's activities at Buccaneer State Park. The full moon provided good soft shell crabbing and floundering for some campers while others preferred to roast marshmallows and play harmonicas around the fire. Simon, a baby raccoon, proved to be the main center of attention.

Saturday's activities were highlighted by a Pet Care Program and Pet Show co-sponsored by the Hancock County Extension Service. Slides and printed material showed the correct techniques of pet care.

Rev. Jay Decker of the Lutheran Church of the Pines in Waveland performed a brief non-denominational worship service on Sunday morning.

On June 17th there will be a macramé class taught by Norine Barnes of the Hancock County Extension Service. Enrollment for this is filled, but there is to be another class later in the summer.

"The External Tramp," a W. C. Fields classic movie will be shown at 8:30 p.m. on June 25th.

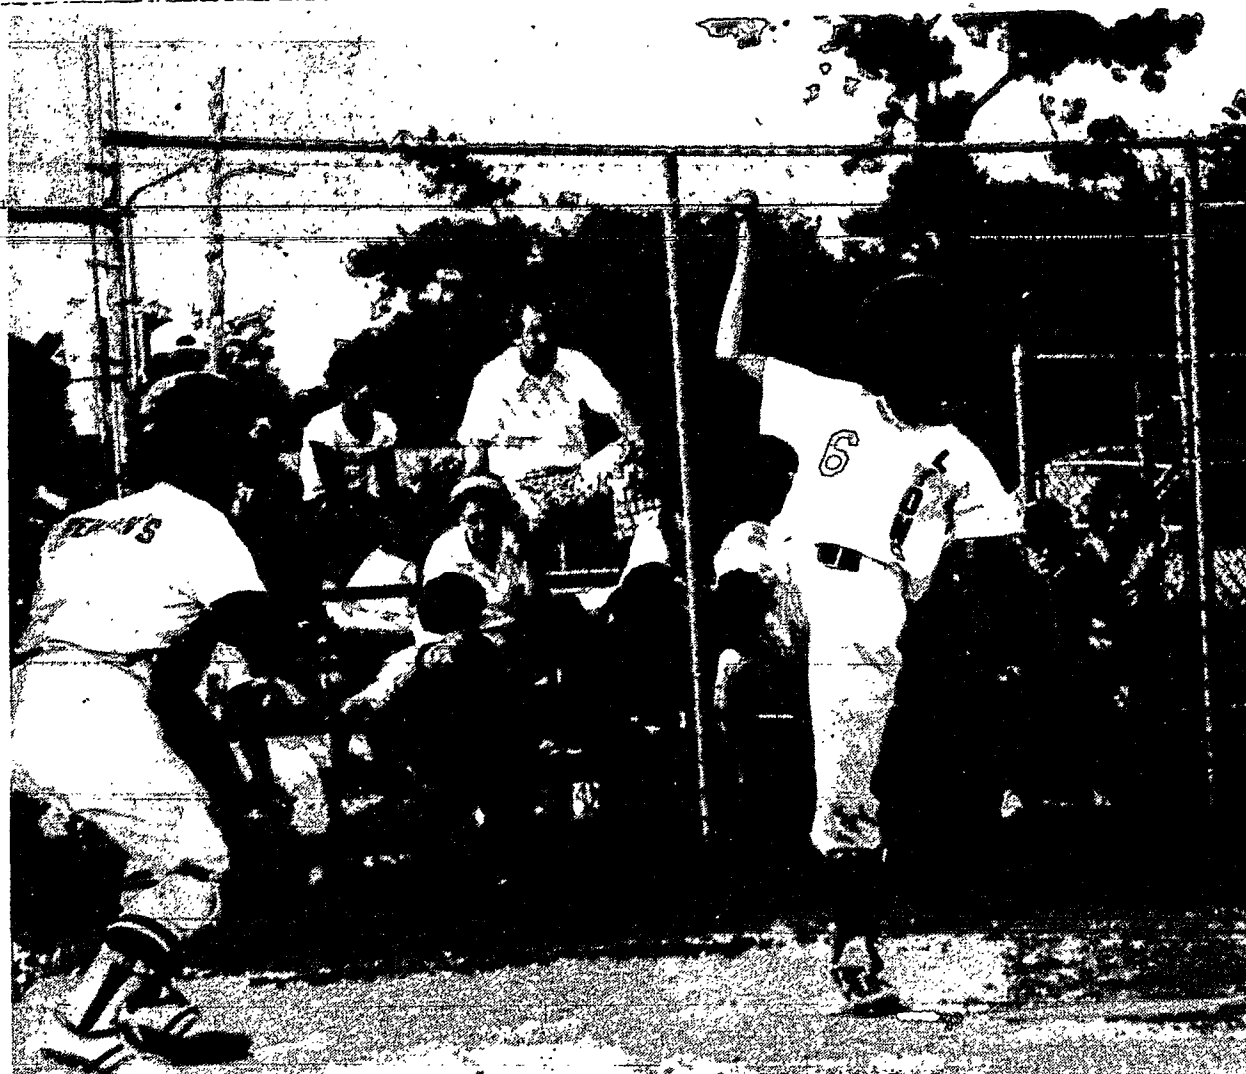

On July 17th we have scheduled a local Craftsman's Fair. Those interested in participating should contact Diddy Quinlan at 467-3822.

There will also be a Boat and Water Safety Program on July 31st. More details will be available at a later date.

Day use of the park's facilities is available to non-campers for a fee of $2.50 per group. This includes use of a private barbeque grill, picnic table, tennis courts, basketball courts, swimming pool, shower houses, and recreation center, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

ETV tells program schedule

A new series directed toward secretaries will begin on Mississippi ETV at 7:30 a.m., Monday, June 21. Each program in "The Desk Set" will be rebroadcast at 7:30 a.m., on Fridays.

The series provides hints about all aspects of the secretarial job for all office personnel.

Two original dances, "District One" and "Pale Cool Pale Warm," are featured in the premiere of "Dance for Camera," a series of three choreographed-for-television professionals, premieres at 2 p.m., Sunday, June 20, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network, channel 19, Biloxi.

MOZART

"Mozart in Seattle," a behind-the-scenes look at how two musical artists prepare for a performance of Mozart's Sinfonia Concertante for Violin, Viola and Orchestra, will be broadcast at 8 p.m., Monday, June 21, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network.

Dancer Carmen de Lavallade is the series host.

NO MORE ODORS

You can get rid of odors in the refrigerator caused by spoiled foods, says Miss Frances Fortenberry, Extension Equipment and Housing specialist. Remove all foods and then wash the refrigerator with soap and water. Rinse and dry with a cloth or sponge. If the odor is still present, wash with one-half cup of baking soda.

TIN CAN POTS

Extension Area Horticulturist Terry Wilbourn says tin cans are useful as starting pots for plants. Cut out both top and bottom of the can. Crimp one end in several places. Replace the lids from the inside, add soil and plant. When you are ready to transplant, simply push up from the bottom and remove entire ball of soil.

Lagarde wins Diamondhead Jr play

Fifteen-year-old Lis Lagarde won first place in the Diamondhead Junior Tournament at Diamondhead Monday and Tuesday eliminating Emily Aertker of New Orleans, La. 6-3, 6-4 in the finals.

Earlier last week Miss Lagarde assured herself of a spot in the Southern Closed Junior Tournament to be played in Mobile, Ala. June 21-25 with a semi-final finish in the Mississippi Junior Qualifying Tournament in Jackson. The top four finishers from the Mississippi tournament qualified for the Southern Closed. Seventeen players from the Gulf Coast participated in the Mississippi Juniors but Miss Lagarde was the only player from the coast to reach the top four. Miss Lagarde also teamed with Meg Elliott of Brookhaven to win the 16-year-old's double title. Lagarde and Elliott defeated Debbie Dotson and Eleanor Winter, the number one seeded doubles pair, for the title.

In the single's play for the Mississippi Juniors, Miss Lagarde outlasted Carol Hemphill 6-4, 6-0 in the first round, Debbie Metcalf 6-1, 6-2 in the second round, and Margaret Ruff 7-5, 6-3 in the third round before losing to Debbie Dotson in the semi-finals 6-0, 6-1.

Lis will play next in the Plantation Pines Racquet Club Junior Tournament at Long Beach June 16-18.

LAGARDE RETURNS volley Junior Tournament this week during play at Diamondhead which she won.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK - Sheldon Seuzeneau does a little fishing but I think his main hobby is playing golf, outside of raising a vegetable garden.

BATTING SCHOOL GRADUATES-Twenty youngsters recently received certificates after successfully concluding the first week-long session of the Dr. Fred Weems Batting School. Students pictured in the 12-15-year-old group (above) are: standing, Kelly Geroux, David Murtagh, Jeffrey Moore, and Kenny Breal. Kneeling, Donnie Strong, Jeffrey Breal, Ron Lusich, Mike Lamarca, Perre Cabell and Shannon Corr. Eight to 11-year-old boys are: standing, Keith Breland, Davey Hegwood, Kris Geroux, Gus Alme and Bill Hammack. Kneeling are Jim Thrifley, Robert Peranich, Kevin James, Matt Rosetti, and Ronnie Artigues.

Fishing in general is improving. Our waters are clearing up and better fishing is in the making. Salt water fish are coming in and fresh water fishing should come into its own. Fishing along the beach is getting better especially down Bayou Cadet way. They will be caught down Cedar Point way. Fish are being caught off the municipal pier, the American Legion pier and at the end of the seawall at Jordan River. Hard crabbing hasn't been too hot, but is improving.

Flounders can usually be caught when fishing on the bottom at these places. Now that the fresh water is going out on low tides salt water fishing is bound to get better. I prefer to fish with a tight line rather than using a cork. When the fish strikes you automatically have a tight line and the fish is easier to hook. Fish the way you like is my advice.

Met three swell fishing couples the other day. They are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip J. Ray and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Boutte of New Orleans, who come over each week and holidays to fish and Mr. and Mrs. W. Willes who have just purchased a home in Cedar Point on Egbert St. These folks have been fishing here for years and praised this part of the coast for real fishing. Hope to see more of you folks.

Also met the owner of the band, the "Mistics" which plays for weddings, anniversaries, parties, etc. Chris and his wife are a lovely couple.

One always meets someone who knows someone else. I met Johnny Simmons, a friend of Ben Mutter of the Bay. They both are with the postal service in New Orleans. Johnny said he loves fishing and making a home garden. Raising okra is his specialty.

Bart and Mary Anne Pepperman are from the big Bryan and Elsie Haggerty are over from Germany. Bryan is in the U.S. Air Force and they came over for the wedding of his brother, Timothy, which was last Saturday. Will return in about a week.

Tom Boudry and Janet Ishee enjoy skiing at Hide-A-Way Lake at Picayune, Miss. They brought me home Sunday. Thanks folks. By the way, they will be married in August.

Met a likable fellow, Norman Chenevert who is attending L.S.U. at Baton Rouge. His sports are football, basketball, fishing and skiing. He and John Boudry share an apartment. Enough said.

city, but visit the Bay quite often. They come to fish, crab, etc. Said Bay St. Louis is a wonderful place.

John E. Meredith is a salt water fisherman and spends most of his time fishing at "Happy Jack" where he says there is real fishing. He goes on every occasion. Happy Jack is over in Louisiana.

Louisiana resident fishing licenses for 1976-77 are now on sale throughout the state, J. Burton Angelle, director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, announced this week.

The new licenses are valid on purchase. Fishermen need no longer wait until July 1 to begin using their new licenses.

Angelle advised fishermen to buy their new licenses early to avoid the holiday rush near the July 4 weekend. The 1976-77 licenses expire June 30.

The new fishing licenses, which will be valid until June 30, 1977, are on sale at the commission's main office at 400 Royal Street in New Orleans, at all sheriff's offices, and at various other outlets.

Angelle said a resident fishing license will again cost only $2.

There are a number of Mississippi fishermen who fish in Louisiana. Remember (Continued on Page 8-C)

June Dairy Month

Rigid inspections make milk the 'confidence food'

Special to the Echo
There is an old cliché in the military - "Prepare and get ready for inspection." During June, milk and dairy products are on display for inspection because June is the month designated as National Dairy Month all over America.

THE OLE
PASTOR
SAYS...

By L. S. WALKER

HEAVEN IS NOT HERE AND NOW, no matter how much we try to make it so. We strive to build paradise here - utopia now. But it never works out.

In a real estate development commercial heard on radio and TV, they say: "We are building paradise at..."

Deep inside the depraved hearts of men this kind of folly, pride and vanity is tolerated if not entertained. This has actually been the dream of all mankind for six thousand years since Adam and Eve were placed in the Garden of Eden. Mankind has yet to admit that only God can and will restore paradise.

We spend millions in medical research programs; we work constantly to make the ecology cleaner and more favorable; we pay higher and higher taxes to build better and safer roads and highways.

We train men to cope with the criminal element which constantly threatens our existence. We build stronger military forces to protect us from the threat of attack from other nations; we continue to build better and more comfortable homes with every possible convenience; beautiful landscapes to add to our hoped-for peace and happiness.

We make every sacrifice to assure our safety and security for ourselves and our children

-insurance and social security of every imagined kind to provide for every possible need for now and the future.

Then after all these things are provided, we still have crime, disease, war, hatred, immorality. The cost of our hoped-for paradise in taxes and other related burdens upon our lives threatens to rob us of all we thought we had finally achieved. In addition to all this, we still die. We are brought to the door of death before we ultimately face up to the fact that paradise is not here. Our riches, our political power, our social prestige, and all our vaunted affluence, cannot escape the melancholy truth of ancient Job: "Man that is born of woman is of few days, and full of trouble."

God spoke in His Word many centuries ago of man's sinful and fallen condition in a world under the curse of sin: "Cursed is the ground (earth) for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life; thorns and thistles shall it bring forth unto thee; and thou shalt eat the herb of the field; in the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread, till thou return unto the ground; for out of it wast thou taken: for dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return" (Gen. 3:17-19).

In the last book of the Bible, God reminds us again of a time beyond this age, but perhaps, soon to come, when "THERE SHALL BE NO MORE CURSE" (Rev. 22:3). No, we cannot create Paradise here! This is not the Golden Age. With all our human wisdom, good intentions and "liberal" philosophies, Utopia is not here; and now, Peace and Paradise will not come until Jesus comes.

Christ came the first time to purchase and perfect our redemption; He left us "another Comforter" (The Holy Spirit), to be our companion while sojourning here; He went to "prepare a place for us." He is coming again to raise us up and receive us unto himself. Then Paradise, with all its glorious perfections will be enjoyed by the children of God.

Known as the Bill of Rights, they very wisely stated that, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

DO YOU HAVE A DRINKING PROBLEM?

Help is available through Alcoholics Anonymous for the problem drinker, and through Al-Anon for his or her family.

Call 467-6414 for AA and Al-Anon information.

Al-Anon meets Mondays 8:00 P.M., St. Augustine Seminary cafeteria.

Actually, milk is ready for inspection every day throughout the year. This is true because milk must meet very rigid standards to qualify for bottling and selling.

Why is this true? Because milk is such a universal food and is consumed in large quantities by babies and small children. Milk makes up the greater portion of the infant's diet; therefore, it must be above suspicion at all times.

Most other foods are not required to conform to this kind of strictness. However, this allows milk to occupy a plateau of uniqueness. Because it undergoes so many strict requirements, milk can be called the confidence food.

As one ad says, "There can be no doubt about it." If it's grade A, pasteurized and homogenized milk, it has to be safe and pure.

The inspection of the milk you drink goes through many processes. First of all, the facilities where milk is produced must pass inspection. The cows producing the milk must pass all the health requirements. Then after the milk is produced, another series of inspections are made on milk. These tests include flavor, composition, content, minimum requirement check, leucocyte, and shelf-life. Keep in mind if milk fails any one of these tests, then it does not pass inspection. The inspection of grade A milk in Mississippi is produced under the auspices of the Mississippi State Board of Health.

Milk's purity and safety is without question. Because of the rigid requirements governing milk, it is safer to drink the water.

The nourishing germ in a grain of cereal that is removed in processing ready-to-eat cereals is sold as a separate product known as wheat germ!

Sunday, June 20, is Father's Day. Share it with a long distance call. You can make dad's day a memorable one with a voice visit and save money, too. You'll get a 60% discount on One-Plus calls you dial any night from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. and on weekends from 11 p.m. Friday, all day Saturday, and Sunday until 5 p.m. That's for all calls dialed the One-Plus way, whether you're calling within Mississippi or out of state. So plan now to make that call for Father's Day. (Low One-Plus rates do not apply to Zero-Plus dialed.

"The Bell System was founded on the broad lines of 'One System, One Policy, Universal Service' on the idea that no aggregation of isolated independent systems, not under common control, however well built or equipped, could give the public the service that the interdependent, interconnecting, universal system could give." This statement of purpose, from the 1909 AT&T Annual Report, still applies to the Bell System today...an association of 23 local telephone companies formed into a nationwide system pursuing a common goal: good service at reasonable prices.

Then, as now, a coordinated systems approach, integrating the major functions required to provide service — research, development, manufacturing, and operations — offered the most efficient method of achieving that goal. Today, the Bell System — AT&T and its Long Lines Department, Bell Laboratories, Western Electric, and the Bell operating telephone companies such as South Central Bell — continues to look to the strengths of its integrated organization to fulfill its obligations to the public.

The culmination of what was set of a hundred years ago — the "grand system" conceived by Alexander Graham Bell and the pioneers of the telephone industry — is today the nationwide telecommunications network of more than 700 million circuit miles serving 148 million telephones through 19,000 local switching offices.

And this telecommunications network, in response to the public's increasing use of telephone and other communications services, continues to grow ever more useful, more advances in its technology, and more adaptable to new applications.

Other committees were formed, such as weigh-masters, publicity, grounds, concessions, fish bait, ice, clean-up-grounds, security, awards, registration, etc. The first person listed on each committee will serve as chairman.

Chairman of the Rodeo will be Frank Ladner, with Robert Magee, co-chairman. These committeemen are working hard to make this rodeo a success. You can work with them by registering your children so that the Rodeo will be a real success. The motto is: "Let's go Fishing." The place is the American Legion Pier.

According to conditions best fishing for fresh water fish should still be next week. The water is not good enough and the tides not right. Salt water fishing is getting better. Floundering and soft crabbing are improving.

Mrs. Raymond Schindler of Bay St. Louis is in Riley Hospital in Meridian, Miss. where she is recuperating from pneumonia.

Spent last weekend in New Orleans attending the wedding of Timothy Haggerty and Loraine, my grandchildren. A nice affair. Glad to get home though to get back to fishing. to fish in La. you must have a La. non-resident license. They can be purchased at Baxter's Marina at Pearllington, Ms. Roy will give you all the dope on fishing licenses.

At the Bay-Waveland Gun and Rod Club meeting last week plans were made to sponsor a children's fishing rodeo to take place June 26, 1976. The Rodeo Committee consists of Richard Schaefer, Dick Thomas, Randy McIver, John Blanchette, Frank Ladner, Billy Power and Jimmy Rutherford.
